Dear Alumnae, Parents, Students and Friends,

There is something so invigorating and inspiring about the fall at Seton High School! You can feel the energy throughout the hallways as our students are excited to be learning in the classroom while also getting involved with so many extra-curricular activities. Students, staff and administration can feel the tremendous support and prayers from all of our alums and friends of Seton, and we are so grateful!

Speaking of gratitude, one of our alums who has poured countless hours of her time and passion into helping Seton is Angela Doerflein Hahn '93. On pages 4-7 you can read about how her faith and focus on community have led her to a career where she is using her talents to support the young women here at Seton.

Most Seton alums have had the privilege of being taught by some of the Sisters of Charity during high school. For those who have not, they certainly have heard about the love and the laughter. One heart-touched alum, Karen Salem Momper '88, wanted to honor a special sister. Read about the Sister Mary Dolores Schneider Scholarship on page 8.

Be sure to check out the photos and updates on page 9 from the Seton SC Groundbreaking Ceremony! The $16M comprehensive complex is the first of its kind for an all-girls school in the region, and we are grateful for all of the support so far! We are about halfway through this fundraising effort, and we are counting on our alumnae and friends to be a part of this exciting and monumental piece of Seton's history-in-the-making!

Olivia (Liv) Flick '20 has always used her creative spirit and faith as strength throughout her life. Her artistic talents are a gift that she was able to beautifully blend with her mother's talents and create a special legacy through her college senior capstone project. You can read this heart-touching story on pages 18 and 19.

We are thrilled to welcome 179 new freshmen in the Class of 2029, and we are excited for them to experience the well-rounded Seton education where they will be both challenged and thrive. Thank you to our incredible alumnae, parents and friends who support Seton throughout the year! Please continue to keep Seton in your prayers as we educate young women in the spirit of our patroness, St. Elizabeth Ann Seton.

Thank you!

FOCUSING ON FAITH

AND INVESTING IN THE NEXT GENERATION

For Angela Doerflein Hahn '93, giving back isn't just something she does—it's a way of life shaped by faith, family and a deep connection to her community.

Angela Doerflein Hahn '93 was raised in the close-knit neighborhood of Saylor Park and attended St. Aloysius on the Ohio School. Her parents, Thomas and Rita Heintz Doerflein '67, were deeply involved in both their parish and neighborhood, setting an early example of service and selflessness for Angela and her five siblings. "My parents were very active members in our community, and this instilled values of using our gifts to contribute and give back," Angela said. Being part of a big family taught her early on how to listen, compromise, support others, and take initiative when needed.

That foundation shaped her throughout her school years, where she naturally gravitated toward activities and athletics that allowed her to be a teammate, help others, and step into leadership roles—experiences that would later influence both her academic and professional paths.

Her high school years were a true reflection of her energy, commitment and enthusiasm for being part of something bigger than herself. "I was a member of Campus Ministry, Student Council, National Honor Society, French Club, Pep Club, Poster Club, and I was a tutor," she explained. She was also a member of the volleyball team and track and field team for all four years.

"I have always loved to compete and that is what drove me to play sports in high school and then volleyball in college."

Angela began to discover her academic strengths in high school as well. "I loved History and English. I loved to read and write," she explained. One of her favorite classes was Mr. Pharo's American History course, where she began to understand the foundations of American society and law. "I also loved Sr. Mary Dolores' AP English class because of the books we read and how she pushed us to think critically about the material," Angela added.

She attended Mount St. Joseph University where she played volleyball and chose to focus on paralegal studies. "I wasn't completely certain about law school while I was in college, so I decided to focus on paralegal studies as a plan so that I could still work in the law, but maybe not as a lawyer," Angela said. It wasn't until her junior year that she really started to think about going to law school. "To that point I had taken several advanced math and science courses, thinking that I wanted to go into the medical field; but I discovered that I didn't really love those subjects," she explained. "When I thought about the topics that interested me the most, it really seemed like the legal profession was right up my alley."

After graduating from MSJU in 1997, Angela was ready for a change of scenery. "I stayed close to home for my undergrad at MSJU, but I really wanted to move away and experience something new," she recalled. A visit to a college friend living in Philadelphia sparked something in her – a connection to the city's energy, history and walkable neighborhoods. "I loved the city, so I took a leap and applied for jobs in Philadelphia about six months after college graduation," Angela explained. She decided to gain real-world experience before the possibility of law school. "I wasn't quite ready to apply for law school and wanted to work for a while to make sure that it was the right decision for me." She accepted a job as a paralegal at a small law firm in the city and quickly adapted to urban life. "I lived in a tiny apartment, sold my car and walked everywhere or took public transportation," she said. The move proved to be a rewarding one. "I loved Philadelphia and made many great friends there.” Her time in the city helped solidify her goals, and after a few formative years, she made the decision to apply and attend law school at Temple University.

Faith has always played a meaningful role in her life, rooted in the quiet but powerful example set by her mother. “My faith was a big part of my life growing up. My mom had a deep faith that she practiced with us at home,” she recalled. While those early lessons planted the seeds, it wasn’t until her mother passed away suddenly – shortly after Angela’s second year of law school – that faith became even more essential. “I didn’t really learn to appreciate or rely upon my faith until my mom passed away suddenly,” she explained. “It was hard being separated from my family, but I was also committed to finishing law school.”

That season of transition became a turning point. “It was during this time that I really found strength through my faith and charted a plan for what I would do after I completed law school,” said Angela. Her ability to stay focused and grounded during a challenging time came from a resilience and clarity that she drew from her spirituality and strength – qualities that have continued to shape her personal and professional paths.

In 2004, Angela graduated from the James E. Beasley School of Law at Temple University. She moved back to Cincinnati as a real estate lawyer. “The law is a living, breathing organism that can be influenced by many things, social views and beliefs that can change over time,” explained Angela. “My faith has kept me focused on choosing a path in the law that did not require me to sacrifice my beliefs or work in an area of the law that I couldn’t support.”

In 2005, Angela started her own law firm with her friend, Beth Pietrandrea, who also graduated from MSJU. The two have worked together for 20 years, including starting their own title agency in 2018. “After having my second son in 2016, I knew that I wanted to continue in my profession, but I needed more flexibility for my family,” Angela said. “I remember calling Beth to ask her if she had any interest in starting that title agency that we had talked about over the years. And the rest is history!”

She is also very grateful to have the support of her husband, Greg Hahn, whom she married in 2012. “I have been incredibly blessed to have a husband that supported my professional decisions because he wanted me to be happy doing the things that I love,” she explained. “Greg definitely deserves credit for taking that leap of faith with me.”

Angela and Greg, along with their two sons, 11-year-old Cooper and nine-year-old Brennan, enjoy spending time as a family doing anything outdoors and playing games. “Hiking and biking, pickleball, basketball, baseball, volleyball – you name it,” she explained. She also teaches them the importance of selfless service. That mindset has carried through her career and life, where being a thoughtful team member on boards and committees goes hand-in-hand with her commitment to making a positive impact. Whether through mentoring, volunteering or using her professional expertise to support others, she views service not just as an obligation, but as a calling

“I WAS RAISED IN A FAITH AND

A COMMUNITY OF PEOPLE THAT LIVED
BY EXAMPLE.

woven into everything she does. “I was raised in a faith and surrounded by a community of people that lived by example. It’s part of my core, moral belief system,” Angela said. Now, as a parent herself, she continues to pass those values on. “I have these discussions with my boys all the time about how God gives each person different gifts in their lives. We have the free will to decide how we use those gifts, but they should always be used to help others,” she explained. “Sometimes that means making a donation, but more often it means giving your time or expertise to help others.”

A true testament of this is Angela’s service on Seton’s Board of Directors and on several committees over the years. Most recently, she has been instrumental in the process to attain the land in Delhi for the Seton Sports Complex, of which funding is underway and a completion date is set for fall of 2026.

“Angela has given endlessly to Seton and shared her expertise, time, talents and skill set to better our school,” said Seton President Kathy Allen Ciarla ’87. “As board chair, she encouraged and supported this idea as part of our Strategic Plan, then took action as we made calculated decisions to reach our goals,” explained Kathy. “Angela has not only been involved but has been instrumental in every step! The SC would not be happening without her. I am forever grateful to her for being a game-changer for Seton!”

Angela considers it a privilege to give back to the school that gave her so much. “It is difficult to put into words my passion for Seton and our Westside community in general,” she said, reflecting on the deep connection she continues to feel to her alma mater. “It was a privilege to serve on the board and now work on the real estate subcommittee for a school that provided me with an amazing education and supportive, faith-filled community,” Angela expressed. “It has been special to see how much the school has grown and changed, while also remaining focused on its Catholic values.”

As a professional woman, she feels strongly about investing in the next generation. “It is so incredibly important to me to support young women in our community—helping them to be the best versions of themselves,” Angela affirmed. “Seton is that place, and I am honored to play a small part in making that happen.”

Sister Mary Dolores Schneider Leadership Scholarship

Karen Salem Momper '88
and Sister Mary Dolores

For Karen Salem Momper '88, memories of Seton High School are stitched together with laughter, discipline and the steady guidance of the Sisters of Charity. Among the many Sisters she was blessed to learn from, one holds an especially dear place in her heart — Sister Mary Dolores.

Karen recalls Sister Mary Dolores, or SMD as she is still affectionately called by so many Saints, as both formidable and inspiring. “She could be intimidating,” Karen admitted with a smile. “She had high expectations, demanded order in the classroom and commanded 100% attention. While she was all business with little time for fun, she also celebrated success and made you want to achieve more. Her dry sense of humor let us know she ‘got’ us — even if she didn’t always show it.”

That combination of toughness and quiet encouragement left a lifelong impression for Karen, who had SMD for both Latin and Honors English. Karen recalls toga parties in Latin class, complete with costumes and “Roman” food, balanced by a rigorous curriculum. “We all have stories about the antics and habits — pun intended — of the Sisters at Seton,” she said with a laugh. “But underneath that armor, we witnessed their quiet and steady force, always cheering us on while challenging us to keep God at the center.”

Years later, when Karen faced a personal battle with leukemia and a stem cell transplant, SMD once again became a source of strength. Sister Mary Dolores, herself a cancer survivor, followed Karen’s blog during treatment. “Her comments were simple but pointed, always laced with that dry wit,” Karen recalled. “I can’t begin to describe how much her support buoyed my spirit during some really tough times. One of her comments even made me laugh so loudly that a nurse rushed in, thinking something was wrong!”

Karen, a cancer survivor, made some time to meet and catch up with SMD when she was in town recently. Once again she felt that enduring impact that inspired her through various chapters in her life. “I left there so full of joy, knowing that I wanted to do something to honor her, particularly while she is still here to feel the appreciation. I’m a big proponent of expressing gratitude before it’s too late,” Karen explained. So, when the opportunity came to donate stocks, the idea to honor SMD came instantly. “I got super excited about doing this while she could be part of it.”

For Karen, giving back is personal. As the oldest of five children, she remembers her parents working hard to make Catholic education possible. “We didn’t qualify for financial aid on paper, but I vividly remember my mom stressing over the grocery bill every week,” she explained. “I received a couple of small scholarships in high school by writing essays or doing research projects, and those contributions — while modest — helped lighten the load. I hope this scholarship motivates and empowers other Saints in the same way.”

Karen’s path after Seton took her to the University of Dayton, where she studied Chemistry with a minor in Marketing, graduating in 1992. She spent several years working at Bristol Myers Squibb before stepping away to raise her two sons. She returned to the professional world in biotech business development when her sons got older, and then pivoted to public service during the pandemic, most recently working with the State of Indiana’s tourism agency. She loves spending time with her husband, Mark, and her sons, Xavier, now 23, and JJ who is 19.

The lessons Karen learned from the Sisters of Charity remain with her throughout her life. “Their influence still carries on,” explained Karen. “They showed us that faith, discipline and encouragement can be life changing. I pray today’s young women can find role models with the same depth of faith and strength.”

And, of course, Karen never forgets the humor that accompanied those lessons. One of her favorite stories? Wearing her boyfriend’s Elder ring in Sister Mary Dolores’ class. “I received a lower-than-normal test grade when SMD openly commented to the class, ‘Miss Salem wasn’t so easily distracted from her studies before she got that ring on her finger.’”

It’s a memory that still makes Karen laugh — and a reminder of the wit, wisdom and warmth that makes Sister Mary Dolores special to so many Saints!

$400,000 Grant Received for STEM

Seton High School is proud to announce that we are the recipients of a $400,000 grant from the Charlotte R. Schmidlapp Fund to be used for STEM education! This is part of a $2 million collaborative grant among Cincinnati's five all-girls Catholic high schools! The presidents of each school came together in this successful effort to gain funding for the education of the bright young women in our schools. We are so excited for this grant to provide more opportunities for our Saints in STEM!

THANK YOU, Seton Alumnae!

We were the WINNERS of the 2025 GSU campaign making us back-to-back-to-back champions! In just three days and thanks to all of our alumnae, we raised $137,387! This funding will help continue the mission of Seton and provide financial aid to students. Stay tuned for next year!

Students who are interested in the pathway to college and careers in medicine and health science now have the opportunity to take Nursing 100:

Health Promotions course and SLH 101: Introduction to Speech, Language and Hearing Disorders through Mount St. Joseph University. This past school year, our first group of students took the Nursing 100 course throughout second semester where they attended classes twice a week during the school day at MSJU. These courses are in addition to the AP and Dual Credit Courses that we offer at Seton, making it possible for students to graduate with a year or more of college credits.

CNA Course

Seton is proud to now offer a CNA (Certified Nursing Assistant) course through Good Samaritan College of Nursing! This summer, four groups of students embraced this opportunity to become certified CNAs where they learned and practiced skills such as positioning residents on one side, making an occupied bed, putting on compression socks, providing client hair care and range of motion to the hip and knee. This incredible CNA summer course gave students real career experience in the medical field, teaching them patient assistance skills in long-term care facilities, hospitals, assisted living facilities and home care settings.

Thirty-One Women Scholarship Program

Seton High School is proud to announce that our Thirty-One Women Scholarship program is recruiting for our 14th class. This program is comprised of a group of women who are passionate about the value of Catholic education. They are committed to ensuring that young women who uphold the values of Seton High School and achieve academic excellence can still be afforded the opportunity to receive a Seton education. This unique scholarship gives young women the chance to attend Seton on a four-year scholarship. Thank you to all of our incredible supporters! We couldn't offer this remarkable scholarship without each one of you! Congratulations to our current recipients: Semhar Ruffin '26, Reagan Montgomery '27, Mia Kemphaus '28, Kailey Cummings '28, Lily Holt '29 and Brynn Kidd '29. To find out how you can be a 31 Women Scholarship sponsor, contact Christina Coffaro McCarthy '95 at mccarthy@setoncincinnati.org.

Alumnae Spotlight

Olivia (Liv) Flick '20

Olivia (Liv) Flick '20 has always been a faith-filled young woman whose creativity and strength have guided her throughout life. As a grade school student, she recalls her favorite subject, without a doubt, being art class. As a high school student, she carried that passion on with taking as many art courses as she could. And with the guidance of her art teacher, Mrs. Margie Metz '94, Liv chose a college and career path where she could continue to use her passion and talent. She has poured her heart into every art project she has ever done over the years, but none have been more meaningful than her college senior capstone where she created a beautiful and deeply personal project that honored the memory of her late mother, Jennifer Flick. Liv's journey, grounded in faith and fueled by determination, shaped not only her work but also the woman she has become.

When Liv was five years old, like so many young children, she had a favorite toy – a stuffed jaguar. She often brought that beloved toy with her wherever she went, which included several mother-daughter outings. It was during this same time that her mom was diagnosed with breast cancer. Jen, who lost her own mom to the same disease decades earlier when she herself was only four years old, was inspired by her own situation and began to write a children's book to express the endless love between a parent and a child. She chose the title, Mama's Heart.

Liv and her mom

Liv's mom, Jennifer Flick

"The story follows alongside a baby and mama jaguar as they carry out their nightly watch over the forest. While they journey through the jungle, each animal encounter leaves Baby Jaguar with a greater understanding of the depth of a mother's love," explained Liv. "She hoped this story would bring comfort to children facing cancer and loss, believing they need to understand that a mother's love lasts forever."

The story was special to Liv from the very start, and she remembers her mom reading it to her often. "She even read it to my preschool class," Liv said. "This book had an ongoing sentimental value to my family as I grew up, and we all knew it was her mission to get it published one day." Jen became cancer-free and remained in remission for 10 years. Meanwhile, the book remained unillustrated and unpublished.

The Flick family of four – including Liv, Jen, dad Michael and brother Ben – kept busy with all the activities that come with raising teenagers. In 2016, Liv entered Seton High School and embraced all that she could. She was committed to her academics and earned membership in the National Honor Society. She also served as a Student Ambassador. "I enjoyed connecting with the community to promote Seton's well-rounded education to prospective students and parents through Open House, camps and other events," Liv said. Her biggest passion, of course, was art. Throughout all four years, she was an active member of the Art Club—eventually serving as an officer—and was also inducted into the National Art Honor Society where she participated in numerous activities both during and after school. "I led a team in the Price Hill window painting efforts, collaborated with Metzcor on service activities and completed a window painting project at Seton for the newly-completed Halo Café," she explained.

In 2018 when Liv was a junior in high school, her mom was diagnosed with metastatic breast cancer and passed away after a courageous battle. Before her passing, some of her various writings were featured in Eat, Pray, Love Made Me Do It and Chicken Soup for the Soul: Miracles and More. "However, the finished manuscript of Mama's Heart remained unpublished, leaving me with a project that I often thought of doing, but never jumped in to get started," Liv said.

Like her mom that enjoyed telling a story through words, Liv loved to express her creativity through artwork. “My favorite time of the day was when I was in the art room, working in the studio and getting to be creative,” she said. In fact, it was her art teacher who initially mentioned to Liv that she should look at the University of Cincinnati’s DAAP program. “Mrs. Metz told me that she could see how my style and interests would translate well with that of a graphic designer,” explained Liv. “I am forever grateful for this nudge in the right direction and know I wouldn’t be where I am today if it wasn’t for her influence on me during my high school years.”

Liv had the opportunity to work and study through five co-op jobs during her years at the University of Cincinnati which included a small digital app agency in Cincinnati, digital design at Procter & Gamble and digital consultancy in Chicago. Apart from these jobs, she had the opportunity to study abroad for four months in Florence, Italy. “While here, I focused in areas of design that I had not previously been exposed to, including industrial and fashion design,” Liv said. “It was here that I decided to declare a minor in Fashion Studies.”

Since the end of high school and during the first few years of college, Liv had the idea to illustrate Mama’s Heart. “My dad and aunts had asked me if it was something I was interested in, and I told them that if anyone was going to do it, I wanted it to be me,” said Liv. “But between college classes and co-ops, it was difficult to find the time to truly dedicate my full focus to bringing the story to life the way that I envisioned it.”

Then came summer semester of her last year in DAAP. She had her Capstone 1 course with a big decision to make that would impact the rest of the next year. “This meant I would be working on something extremely personal in a larger setting and continuously sharing through presentations and discussions what the project meant to me,” Liv explained. “With the support of my friends and professors, I decided that completing Mama’s Heart was the perfect way to utilize my Capstone year – having this period of time to conduct in-depth research alongside having a structured schedule for the final delivery of the book itself.”

Liv’s family had no idea that she worked on this project for the entire year. “I wanted it to be a surprise for all of them. This big final reveal was somewhat of a gift to say thank you at the end of my college experience and for all their support and love over the years,” said Liv, who also received UC’s Director’s Choice Award for her Capstone project.

This past spring, Liv graduated Summa Cum Laude from UC and began a job as a UI Designer at Procter & Gamble. “I am so excited to be starting this career in downtown Cincinnati and look forward to the opportunities that lie ahead,” said Liv. “I have grown a passion for outreach and leadership, and I hope to give back to the co-op community through mentorship in my professional career.”

Liv’s life experiences have both challenged and strengthened her faith over the years. “Through grade school and at Seton, I was always surrounded by spirituality, and I was continuously learning what it meant to be Christ-like from those around me,” she said. That faith is what guides her always, including her next goal which is to get Mama’s Heart published. “This was the greatest collaboration I have ever done in my life. Getting to work on this book and feel my mom guiding me along the way was beyond special,” she said. “It is something that I will forever be grateful for.”

SETON CINCINNATI SGO

The Seton Cincinnati SGO - Scholarship Granting Organization was officially established in 2024 and benefits both the donors and the students at our school! This year, we received $268,433 from donors to the SGO! The donors all benefited as well! If you live in the state of Ohio and have a tax liability, this is a great way to receive a dollar-for-dollar tax credit and help Seton too!

Special thanks to all the donors to the Seton Cincinnati SGO.

All donations help a student in need attend Seton!

Visit setoncincinnati.org/support-seton/seton-cincinnati-sgo/ to learn how you can benefit from making a gift to the SGO.
